ON STATISTICS

By George H. Schnur

Statistics and statisticians have long been considered a joke by the unthinking. And even many wiser people have asked, what good comes from all that work? But, in our modern life, the value of statistics, that are true, has come to be recognized.

In all callings, trades, and professions, in commerce and manufacture, in government, national, state, or local; in civics, in morals, in religion; in every phase of life affecting the individual or the family, the state or the church, statistics have come into their own.

When our United Church was organized in 1918, the confessional basis of doctrine and teaching having been found to be the same, in all other matters, the best elements and principles which had developed in the three bodies, were embodied in the new organization. Old weaknesses were avoided and guarded against; and today we have stronger and better organization than ever before.

Statistics was not forgotten. Among the great Standing Committees that must care for the growing interests of the Church, the one dealing with records and statistics and necessarily the YEAR BOOK, is Committee No. 1. What has this committee done?

I. It has continued the old LUTHERAN YEAR BOOK, limiting it more especially to the interests of our own body, but improving it each year.

II. The necessity that presented itself at the very outset of our reorganization, was the Parochial Report and its accompanying statistical table in the minutes of the Constituent Synods.

The reorganization of the whole Church, her classification of membership, her benevolent operations, her budget system, her system of finance and apportionment,—all demanded a revised and improved form of Parochial report. We issued a standard form. It has been used by all Constituent Synods. Naturally, it has been under continuous criticism which has resulted beneficially. Today we have a form that is stable and efficient and has the approval of all our synodical statisticians and is meeting with general favor in the whole Church.

III. Through the statisticians of the Constituent Synods, we have learned that to get accurate and comprehensive church statistics, we must have complete and well-kept church records in the congregations. The old bodies preceding the United Church had left this matter of preparing and publishing church records largely if not wholly in the hands of private parties. Some of our pioneers did splendid work in this line. Muhlenberg's records in the very earliest congregations are invaluable today. In the matter of books, T. Newton Kurtz of an early day did commendable work. Dr. Charles A. Hay, of the middle of the last century, both as Curator of the Lutheran Historical Society, and as a teacher in Practical Theology, taught many of us the great value and vital importance of Church Records. After Kurtz's Church Record, the next improvement appears in the Parish Record issued under the auspices of the General Council Publication House. Other records in our own three bodies and other Lutheran Synods followed, all striving for perfection. All honor to all the pioneers in this line of records.

Our Committee has been working for several years in the whole field of records, studying carefully all the books and forms that have been placed on the market in the whole Lutheran Church in America. We hope to have a fine report to render at Richmond next autumn. Meanwhile, as this article is being written, our Publication House is doing the composition work on a new, official

"PARISH REGISTER"

This record book has grown out of the experience of the members of the Committee as well as being a direct outgrowth and development of all American Lutheran Church records that have preceded it. It has been carefully criticized and amended from time to time and is now to be issued by the Committee under authority given at both the Buffalo and the Chicago Conventions. While the Chairman of the Committee is named as the editor, the "Parish Register" is officially owned, controlled, copyrighted and published by the United

Lutheran Church in America. We believe that for completeness and simplicity, for adaptability and real value, this new record is far in advance of every church record ever put out under Lutheran auspices in America.

IV. Synodical Card Index. Another advance in the matter of the preservation of statistics has been the preparation of a system of Card Indices for the use of the Statisticians of the Constituent Synods. The Pittsburgh Synod, since its own merger in 1919 has had such a system in operation. The Virginia Synod, since its merger, has also made a study of the problem. The Committee has gladly availed itself of the talents and statistical experience of Mr. H. E. Pugh of our Church at Richmond, Va., who is also a member of the Committee. We hope that every Constituent Synod will adopt this card index system as soon as our Publication House places it on the market. It has been officially adopted by the Committee. You will find it of great practical use in the working archives of your Synod.

Other records and statistical blanks are in various stages of study and preparation. Thus the Committee hopes to fulfil its responsibilities and duties laid upon it by the United Church.

THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE UNITED LUTHERAN CHURCH IN AMERICA

By Arthur H. Smith, D.D.

The writer has been asked, as one of the newer members, to give his impressions of the Executive Board of the United Lutheran Church in America and its work. Before I was appointed to serve on the Executive Board I had a very inadequate and hazy conception of its function and of its method of operation, and doubtless the great majority of the members of the Church are in the same position as that of the writer, and are without an adequate conception of the great and widely varied service the Board is rendering to the Lutheran Church.

I was aware that, when the Merger became an accomplished fact in 1918 and the Constitution was adopted, Article XI provided for an "Executive Board" and that it should "consist of the President, the Secretary, and the Treasurer of the general body, who shall be the officers of the Executive Board, together with six ministerial and six lay members who shall be elected by the general body for a term of four years"; and that it further provided that "it shall be the duty of the Executive Board to represent the United Lutheran Church in America and to carry out its resolutions and to attend to its business during the interim; it shall co-ordinate the work of the executive departments, receive reports as to the work and needs of the several boards, present a budget to the Convention with apportionments, fill vacancies not otherwise provided for, and perform such other work as may be delegated to it by the general body, to which it shall make full report of its acts." Moreover, all boards, committees and commissions are expected to furnish the Executive Board with copies of their proceedings in order that its members may be thoroughly informed as to the entire work of the Church.

All this I knew, but my first impression upon attending my first meeting of the Board, was that of great surprise at the very wide scope of its work, and the great volume of business requiring attention. The officers of the Church and the standing committees submit their reports of matters arising during the interim, some of great importance, and all of these receive the earnest attention which they merit. The activities of the whole Church are under survey and it is a revelation of the real bigness of the Lutheran Church and the great variety of its contacts with the Kingdom of God.

Another impression which is promptly felt is that of the evident seriousness of purpose with which the Board gives attention to the interests of the Church. The members are men of large abilities, wide experience, and proved devotion to the Lutheran Church and they come together with the one common purpose of giving conscientious service. The meetings begin on time and at once interest is fixed upon the succession of subjects requiring consideration. Often hours are given to the study of questions involving the larger policies and contacts of the Church, such as education, missions, our relation to the Federal Council of Churches, the coming World Conference on Faith and Order, and the Stockholm Conference on Life and Work last year. Not infrequently pause is made for prayer for divine guidance in reaching right decisions for the Church. No hasty judgments are made but there is always the desire to do what is best and right.

A third impression is that of the remarkable spirit of harmony which exists in the Executive Board. The members come from different sections of the Church and represent varied activities, but there are no factions or divisions, and, though they are men of positive opinions and convictions, they almost invariably after adequate discussion arrive at practically unanimous decisions. The spirit of brotherly Christian harmony is ever manifest.

Another thing made evident by growing familiarity with the Board's work, is that the United Lutheran Church is functioning with surprising smoothness, considering the short interval since the merger. The congregations, Synods, and boards have adjusted themselves to the new and changed order with willingness and promptness and the result is seen in increased efficiency, larger service, and the inspiring vision of usefulness for the Kingdom which God plainly has in store for our beloved Lutheran Church.

The Board has but one purpose, namely, to serve the Church, to fulfil her expressed will, and to promote her future usefulness in the great cause of Jesus Christ, our divine Lord.

THE CALL OF THE FOREIGN MISSION FIELD

This is a call to world peace. The world war, some said, was a war to end war. What folly! How could anyone fall into such a delusion? Jesus said: "They that take the sword shall perish by the sword." But then, what will end war? Diplomacy has failed to bring peace. Diplomacy always has failed. Why do we continue to put our trust in diplomacy? The League of Nations is a courageous effort to organize the nations on earth for peace; and for my part, I should like the United States to become a member of the League of Nations because it promises more for world peace than any other present agency of government. Yet Viscount Robert Cecil, who had a good deal to do with the formation of the League, and who has been actively associated with it from the beginning, has declared that if we depend for peace on the League of Nations alone, we are living in a fool's paradise, since the only solution is in the principles of Christ.

The Kingdom of God on earth, which the foreign missionary movement seeks, is the ideal League of Nations. Jesus told us what kind of a league He wants, when He said "One is your Master, even Christ, and all ye are brethren. One is your Father, which is in heaven." Foreign missions is the antidote for the fever of selfish, materialistic commercialism, the eradicator of the poison of racial pride and prejudice, the potent tonic which stimulates the heart to good will towards all men everywhere and strengthens the hands of love for inter-racial international service in the development of the whole human race and the whole life of man, that all men may reach the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ. Foreign missionaries are the world's most certain and effective peacemakers; and all those who in any way support the Church's work of foreign missions are doing more for world peace than all the diplomatists of the nations and all the agents of international commercialism in all the world.

To human thought and sight world peace may seem to be a sheer impossibility because the powers of sin and evil have so widely separated the nations upon earth and have built high barriers of disagreement between them; but world peace is the task to which foreign missions calls every true follower of Christ, and world peace is as near and as real as our Christian missionary effort will make it through service to Christ and to fellowmen everywhere on earth in the spread of the truth and in the service of love.

Foreign missions has no place for warfare in its program. What it wants is what Christ wants: peace on earth and good will among men for the glory of God in the highest. The Kingdom of God, which it seeks to extend to the uttermost part of the earth, is a kingdom not of this world, but a kingdom of truth and love and virtue, in which men of every clime and time, of every color and condition may be citizens in a union of faith and service under the sovereignty of the Prince of Peace, the Redeemer-King and Lord of all, Jesus Christ.

Therefore, the call to the foreign mission field for us to send our missionaries and our money abroad to extend the Kingdom of Christ, demands our very best efforts, our unceasing service in the interest of that peace which the world cannot give, which no worldly kingdom can create, and which will not come unless and until the kingdoms of the world have become in their spirit, in their operations, and in their inter-relations the Kingdom of God. —The Foreign Missionary.

THE EFFICIENT SUNDAY SCHOOL

By Earnest Trabert

The Sunday School, or Bible School, is the chief teaching agency of the Church, we present here a brief outline of certain essentials which will contribute to the efficiency of our work.

I. ITS RELATIVE PLACE.

1. It is not a substitute for the home, and can never take the place of the parent in teaching the child the things of God.

2. It is not a substitute for the regular worship of the Church.

3. It is not a substitute for the secular school, for its function is religious exclusively.

4. It is a department of the Church for the study of the Word of God.

5. It is not essentially an evangelistic agency, although it aims at the conversion of the unconverted. It is a teaching agency wherein through the teaching of the Word, the Christ Character is developed in the soul, and the Christ life is developed in the conduct.

II. ITS RELATION TO THE CONGREGATION.

1. It must always be under the direct supervision of the Pastor and Church Council.

2. It should not be dependent upon the offerings received for its support but should be included in the congregational budget.

3. As its aim is to develop Christian character, and as character depends upon the teaching of the Word, and as the Church confesses the Word, the teaching must conform to that confession.

4. Its teachers should be members of the congregation, and they must confess the faith of the Church.

III. ITS ORGANIZATION.

1. By virtue of his office the Pastor is the head of the Sunday school.

2. To relieve him of the responsibility of its management a superintendent should be chosen (a) by the Pastor and Church Council or (b) by the teachers and officers, and confirmed by the Church Council.

3. The Superintendent must be spiritually minded, a lover of souls, and possessed of tact and judgment. He must have executive ability, and be willing to devote time and energy to the work.

4. There must be sufficient secretaries to care for the business details of the School Attendance, Financial, Literature and Recording. These officers should so function that they will not disturb the work of the school.

5. There must be a treasurer who will administer the finances in a manner worthy of the work.

6. An organization of teachers and officers, which should also include the members of the Church Council, is essential for the study of the work and planning for its advancement. This organization should meet regularly and might study with profit methods of teaching as well as of administration.

IV. ITS PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS.

1. Classrooms are not essential, but more can be accomplished by their use.

2. The room or rooms must be well-lighted so that attention is not disturbed by straining the eyes; it must be heated sufficiently to be comfortable; it must be ventilated so that the mental faculties are not benumbed by foul air.

3. The chairs or seats should be comfortable and conform to the size of the child.

4. The school should run on a schedule.

V. ITS TEACHERS.

1. They must be qualified to teach (a) educationally. No one can teach what he does not know; (b) temperamentally. This includes sympathy, judgment, tact, common sense. Good health and good habits contribute towards this; (c) spiritually. Only the spiritually minded can impart spiritual truth effectively.

2. They must know (a) what they teach. The text book is the Word of God which is the truth of God. The lesson must be prepared with earnest, sincere and prayerful study; (b) who they teach. They must know the nature of those committed to them. This demands a knowledge of the psychology of the various ages of childhood; (c) how to teach, knowledge of the fundamental principles of pedagogy is essential to success.

VI. ITS LESSONS.

1. Lesson books and lesson papers can never take the place of the Bible, and when employed should always be used in conjunction with the Bible.

2. Lessons must be graded to the mind and nature of those taught.

3. They must conform to the teachings and principles and practices of the Church.

4. They are not only to give knowledge but must direct the pupil to a life of holiness as an expression of faith.

5. They should include the direction of the pupil in the worship and customs of the Church, for these are derived from the Word.

VII. ITS PURPOSES OR AIM.

1. The chief aim is to realize the Christ character in all of the members of the school through the study of the Word.

2. Inseparably connected with this aim, its purpose is to lead all to a life of service for Christ as the expression of the Christian character.

3. Unless these results are attained in the members, the Sunday School may impart knowledge of the Bible but not a living faith which works by love.

4. Where these results are in evidence that Sunday School has succeeded and may be called "An Efficient Sunday School."

THE WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church has 1,835 societies in as many congregations, which enroll 65,916 members. In addition to these societies, there are Young Women's Missionary Societies numbering 400 with a membership of 8,849, and the children's missionary societies known as the Light Brigade—1,075 brigades with 35,707 members.

The aim of the Women's Missionary Society is fourfold: 1. To extend the Kingdom of Christ at home and abroad; 2. To co-operate through the established Boards in the missionary activities of the Church, especially those relating to work for women and children; 3. To prepare, publish and circulate missionary literature, and to promote missionary education in every possible way; 4. To train for missionary service the young women and children of the Church.

In fulfilling the aim, the Women's Missionary Society supports 11 women missionaries and 1 builder in Africa; 37 women missionaries in India; 4 women missionaries in China; 6 women missionaries in Japan; 1 woman missionary in South America (Buenos Aires); 1 missionary in Watauga, North Carolina; 1 missionary in Konnarock, Virginia; 3 missionaries to the Jews in Toledo, Ohio, Philadelphia and Baltimore; 38 home mission pastors; 1 settlement worker in Spring Garden, Pittsburgh; 5 missionaries in the Virgin Islands; 2 women secretaries for students in colleges and universities.

The funds of the Women's Missionary Society are comprised of contributions from three sources: The General Fund—consisting of the monthly dues from each congregational society, averaging not less than ten cents a month per member both in the women's and the young women's societies; the Biennial Convention Expense Fund, ten cents from every active member, and the Synodical Fund—ten cents or more from every active member annually. From the General Fund the regular work in all the fields and the administration of the work is financed. From the Biennial Convention Expense Fund the expenses of Synodical delegates to the Biennial Convention are paid. From the Synodical Fund the expenses of the Synodical Society are met.

1926 has been declared Young Women's Year, when it is proposed to make wide the missionary privileges for the young women of the Church. In connection with the Biennial Convention of October, 1926, there will be a Missionary Congress for Young Women to which every congregation in the United Lutheran Church is invited to send at least one representative from among the young women for missionary inspiration. Travel privileges, as to the Biennial Convention will be open to these young women, and delegates who are also representatives to the Congress will have the entertainment for the extended time if necessary. Representatives to the Congress who are not delegates to the Biennial Convention will be allowed travel privileges at rates identical with the convention rates and entertainment. The Executive Board of the Society has also planned that one day of the Biennial Convention be given to the Young Women's Missionary Societies, when for legislative purposes problems of their societies will be presented for discussion and vote. This part of the Biennial Convention will culminate with the commissioning of any new missionaries to be sent out at that time.

Lutheran Women's Work is the official magazine of the Society. Under the supervision of the General Literature Committee leaflet literature, missionary books, pageants, program packets for meetings, organization material and a miscellaneous quantity of printed missionary literature may be secured. The Literature Committee office is 725 Muhlenberg Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

The headquarters of the Women's Missionary Society is located at 1228 Fulton Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., where the Executive Secretary is at the command of the Church for any service the Women's Missionary Society may be able to render.

The Church Worker's Library

THE Sunday School and Church owes such equipment to its workers. Every church and Sunday School that looks for intelligent and effective work on the part of its workers must provide them with a selection of the best books dealing with the principles, methods, programs, etc., of the various forms of activities in which they are engaged.

The children also should be provided with literature in the way of biblical, religious, missionary and like reading material by the church, as such literature is ordinarily not found in the public library.

The UNITED LUTHERAN PUBLICATION HOUSE has facilities for selecting and securing such material for church and home.

A man with the highest academic degrees, and a professor who had taught his subject for eighteen years.

He studied two days and two evenings to prepare a lecture of one hour before a group of students in an elementary class.
